

Student: it's mostly this highlighted stuff that I'm having a hard time because it says, "However"--I know that, like, you can read it--but that "there's various reasons why a teen might decide to have a baby." It sounds like it's repeating itself. So I don't want it to repeat itself, but at the same time I want to keep the basic structure of saying while some teens are choosing to become pregnant, others don't, and, like, it's an accident. Because it kind of goes into my last section, like, down here.